Meu lado tiete (fã) pula pra fora com um sorriso de orelha a orelha. Parabéns pela conquista. Nunca é fácil conquistar algo e o reconhecimento vem com o tempo. Desfrutem deste momento, dessa conquista alcançada. Mais uma vez, obrigado pelo bom trabalho. Por trazer alegria e empolgação para esse fã e que novas conquistas tornem-se realidade.

76	@ivandagny7757 BAND-MAID / Bubble (Official Music Video) 1/21/2019 1. I'm fine with "Bubble", although i don't get into it. 2. It's not a bad thing for Band-Maid to write commercial songs. In fact, it's very common for J-Rock bands to write a TV drama or anime songs and these commercial songs can promote J-Rock bands, then bring popularity and "money". As long as making enough money, Band-Maid needn't be so busy on writing & practicing new songs, endless tours and eventually, being exhausted in the near future. Taking "Onmyo-Za" band for example. They formed in Osaka, 1999 and their first 5 albums struggled and never reached top 20. Since writing an anime song "Koganinpocho" in 2005, they became much more popular. The sales of later albums were Boosted Up and never went down significantly while their albums still stayed hardcore. Onmyo-Za - Koganinpocho (2005) https://youtu.be/v86m2RdPSo8 3. Band-Maid used to read Vrains and Perfect Crime before. I believe they're glad to be part of these programs to write these commercial songs. As a songwriter, Kanami has to accept some opinions from the producers of Vrains and Perfect Crime. These commercial songs certainly will be poppier. 4. Comparing to other labels, Crown Stone isn't that bad to Band-Maid. Just check "Bridear" band. After signing with Warner Music, Bridear changed to pop rock to gain popularity and that caused their two talented guitarists leave the band seperately in 2017 & 2018. If Crown Stone didn't allow Band-Maid go to hard rock, there wouldn't have been "Brand New Maid",, "Just Bring it" and "World Domination".	https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=T_PWQtc7zVw&lc=UgxZEEHdUjV6ocnvDQB4AaABAg
